Scientists are Rescued by Air Force

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The Air Force went calmly about the task today of airlifting a group of scientists and servicemen from a research camp on a shrinking ice floe in the Arctic Ocean.

"No sweat," said one officer—the Air Force's way of saying the situation is under control.

"There's always a potential that when you are on an ice floe like that it could break up," said Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer at Tadd Air Force Base here.

"An operations plan was devised some time ago. We are putting into effect one phase of it."

Evacuation of military and civilian personnel at the camp, known as "Station Charley," was ordered Thursday after the big chunk of ice began disintegrating.

The Air Force said it believed there were about 25 men at the camp. Radio transmissions were so garbled that it wasn't known here exactly how many. Some of the civilians were believed to have returned recently to the University of Washington in Seattle.

Two men were flown here from the camp Thursday night by a twin-engine C123J cargo plane from Ladd. The Air Force said the rest would be brought out in a series of flights over the next five to seven days.

It will take several days to pack up the camp's equipment, Peacock explained.

The identity of the two men brought out was not known.

The camp, established last May, is 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, and some 600 from the North Pole. The scientists were studying the depths of the ocean and the earth's magnetic currents.

The floe, four miles long by two wide, crumbled to one-fourth its original size night before last. But the Air Force said the 3,700 feet of runway remaining was plenty for airplanes to land on.

"There is absolutely no danger," said an Air Force spokesman.

Man Questioned About Robbery

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Clarence Dodson, 40, was arrested at a roadblock here yesterday for questioning in connection with a robbery charge in Jefferson County and an armed robbery in Fort Smith, police said.

Jefferson County Sheriff Harold Norton said Dodson was held in the county jail at Pine Bluff to await court action.

Norton said he asked Stuttgart and State Police to set up the roadblock after he learned a man fitting Dodson's description had tried to cash a check in Pine Bluff.

Race Trouble Better, Says Committee

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A committee of Negro citizens said yesterday that a Negro congressman from Michigan had overemphasized racial disturbances in Little Rock's two infested high schools.

But the committee agreed with Rep. Charles H. Diggs (D-Mich.) that Negro students at Central High School were being subjected to name calling, pushing and kicking.

Five Negroes attend Central and three go to Hall High.

Diggs charged last month that students in both Central and Hall were being harassed and mistreated by white students. He asked President Eisenhower to make a trip to Little Rock to appeal for peace and end to racial turmoil.

Little Rock school officials emphatically denied Diggs' charges.

The citizens' committee, made up of Negro lawyers, clergymen and politicians, reported that Diggs' charges of abuse at Hall were overemphasized but said that at Central there is "name calling and periodic physical manifestations of misconduct such as pushing and kicking."

"Congressman Diggs merely made a fly by night investigation here and didn't take but one party's word on how things were," said committee member Dr. Roland Smith, a Baptist minister.

The committee joined with Diggs in urging President Eisenhower to make a "goodwill tour" of the South.

The committee report said there has been a reduction in open opposition to integration and in "organized open defiance" of the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court desegregation decision.

"The study was made to show that conditions are not as violent and as bad as they were pictured," Smith said. "They are not what we want them to be, but they have improved."

Hate-Mongers Continue Smear Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hit and run hate-mongers operating under the cover of darkness continued their smear campaign against Jews unabated Thursday night. Attempts to track them down were meeting with little success.

More swastikas and abusive slogans appeared in widely scattered countries—most of them crudely splashed on synagogues, homes and public buildings.

Sixteen days after the outburst began with the desecration of a synagogue in Cologne, government officials, Jewish leaders and social workers still disagreed in trying to place the blame for the continuing situation.

West Germany's Minister of Interior Gerhard Schröder told British radio listeners Thursday night that anti-Semitism "represents no political power in Germany today."

"In our opinion, the anti-Semitic outrages primarily involve questions of moral attitudes and humanity," he said.

Many Jewish leaders and groups from other churches blamed left-overs from Hitler's fascism. There have also been suggestions that the Communists inspired the outrages to discredit Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Police in Milan, Italy, seized eight men, ranging in age from 17 to 28, and charged them with reviving fascism by anti-Semitic acts.

Police said the eight were members of a group calling itself "the new European order." Propaganda documents were found in the organization's headquarters suggesting it was in touch with similar movements abroad.

In the United States, the FBI is investigating two threatening letters sent Jewish congregations in Jacksonville, Fla., where a synagogue was daubed with the Nazi symbol.

Walls of two New York City's largest Protestant churches—the Cathedral of St. John the Divine (Episcopal) and the Riverside Church—were splashed with Jewish religious symbols and the old testament phrase, "an eye for an eye."

New York City Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy assigned extra policemen to guard churches and synagogues.

County Leaders Discuss Plan to Double Salaries

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today said he favored a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit increases for state constitutional officers and for elected county and municipal officers.

But the governor wouldn't talk to newsmen about a closed meeting at which the proposal was discussed yesterday.

He said he was a guest at the conference and wasn't free to discuss it.

Others at the meeting included several state officials, among them Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, who may be opposing Faubus for the latter's job later this year.

Also present in the group of 28 were various county and municipal officials.

Faubus commented today that "the salary of the governor of Arkansas, although still the lowest in the country, hasn't kept any one from running for the office and there will be plenty of candidates even if the salary isn't raised."

"The other constitutional officers in Arkansas are not as well off as the governor and I think there is more justification in making it possible for the Legislature and other governing bodies to raise their salaries," he added.

Faubus also emphasized that adoption of proposed amendment, which will be voted on next November, would not automatically increase any salaries.

It would make it possible for them to be increased up to certain maximums by the Legislature and other governing bodies.

A source who refused to be quoted by name told newsmen that yesterday's meeting was called to discuss the constitutional proposal.

It would double the maximum salaries of the governor (now $10,000), lieutenant governor ($2,500), attorney general ($6,000), treasurer, auditor and land commissioner ($8,000).

The maximum salaries of elected county and municipal officers would be raised from $5,000 to $10,000.

The spokesman said political leaders wanted to keep the meeting a secret because they feared criticism for trying to raise state salaries in an election year.

Other officers at the meeting included Secretary of State C. G. Hall, State Land Commissioner Sam Jones, State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton and State Auditor Jimmie Jones.

Injuries Fatal to Lewisville Man

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—David Hankins, 21, of Lewisville, died at a hospital here today today of injuries suffered in a highway accident near El Dorado last Saturday.

Hankins was a passenger in a sports car which skidded as it passed a truck and then collided with a larger passenger car.

Three other persons were injured, none dangerously.

The accident occurred on Highway 82 about eight miles east of El Dorado.

Plea for Repeal of World Court Veto Hits Snag

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's plan for repeal of a U. S. veto over jurisdiction of the World Court ran into storm signals today.

The going appeared so rough that Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark)—who sides with Eisenhower on the issue—said he would like to be sure of "a fighting chance" for approval before bringing it up in the Senate.

The United Nations created the International Court of Justice to handle legal disputes between nations.

The Senate made U. S. Participation subject to a reservation of the right to keep from the court any dispute which it determined was essentially within domestic jurisdiction.

This veto, called the Connally reservation, was described yesterday by the President in his state-of-the-union message as a "self-judging reservation."

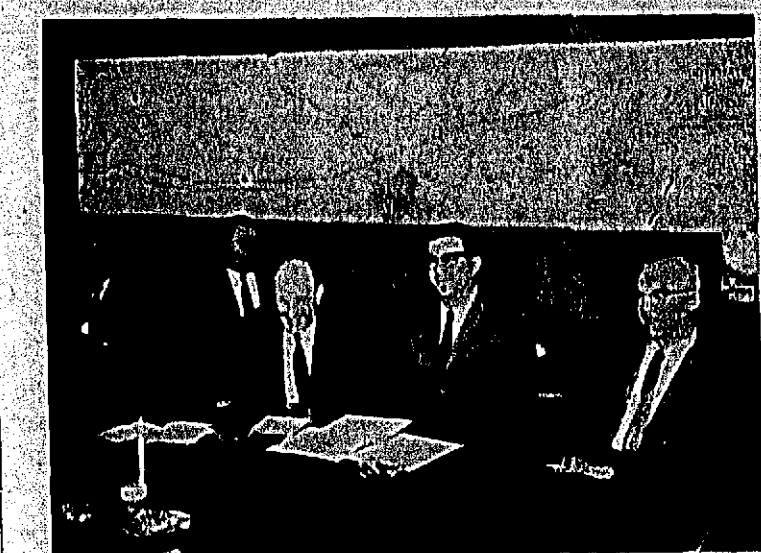

Eisenhower said he supported a resolution by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) to repeal the reservation. He urged its prompt passage.

Fulbright is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where the resolution has long been pending.

He feels that in-world-opinion more harm than good might be done if his committee approves the repealer and the Senate fails to give it the two-thirds margin needed for its adoption in the nature of a treaty.

A combination of some Republicans and Southern Democrats opposes the change.

Daughter Tells of Mother's Last Screams

By DIAL TORGESON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—First there was her mother's voice, screaming for help, and then her stepfather's—"mad and angry and loud."

Patli Daugherty, 12, her eyes filled with tears, was telling the jury at the Finch murder trial of her mother's last moments alive.

Socialite Barbara Jean Finch, 38, was beaten and shot to death July 15 near her luxurious home in suburban West Covina. Patli's stepfather, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and his red-haired mistress, Carole Treggoff, 23, are charged with the murder.

"I heard screams for help," Patli told the jury Thursday. "It was mother's voice. She said 'help, Marie Anne, come!'"

Marie Anne Lidholm, 19, was the Finches' housemaid.

Patli burst into tears before and after she told the witness stand but she testified in a clear if tremulous voice. Long, dark curls spilled over her round white collar.

Patli said she and the maid retired after watching television, then heard screams from the garage. She followed the maid outside.

"By the time I was to the garage the door was closed and Marie Anne was screaming for me to get in the house and lock the door."

"I heard footsteps—it sounded like something hitting the wall. I heard Dr. Finch's voice. It sounded mad and angry and loud."

She said she ran back to the house and locked herself in.

"I heard a shot," she said. "Then I saw Marie Anne come running to the house, and I unlocked the door and let her in. 'I could hardly move. I was so petrified.'"

Love Triangle Brings Arrest of Woman

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—

Miss Minnie Kelly of Winona was arrested today in connection with the love triangle murder of her deputy sheriff husband, William Kelly.

Montgomery County Sheriff W. W. Patridge said he arrested the 23-year-old woman at her home and transferred her to the Leflore County jail at Greenwood for questioning.

Already jailed are former Montgomery County sheriff Lawrence King and two Negroes. All have said King plotted the killing and the two Negroes carried out the plan, Patridge reported.

Highway patrolmen said their investigation showed that King and his deputy's wife, carried on a love affair for several months and that Kelly knew of it. King and Kelly had argued over the affair, officers said, and Kelly had quit his job only to return to work a few weeks later.

Highway Patrol Inspector Gwin Cole identified the two Negroes as Alice Morris, 49, and Pink Townsend, 25, and said both signed statements that they bent and stabbed the 27-year-old Kelly in a vault at the sheriff's office at Winona last Saturday night.

Sanity Test for Accused Rapist

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Roland L. Frank of Rogers, who was captured by police after a gun battle and charged with raping a Cave Springs housewife, has been committed to the State Hospital here for a 30-day mental examination.

Frank, 32, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to charges of rape, sodomy and assault with intent to kill at his arraignment before Circuit Judge Maupin Cummings at Fayetteville earlier this week.

He was wounded in both arms by police bullets during a shoot-out at his parents' home in Rogers Dec. 29, a few hours after the alleged attack on the housewife.

Frank, an electrician, was released from a Fayetteville Veterans hospital, where he underwent treatment, just before his arraignment.

He held his parents inside their house for about an hour during the police siege but they escaped unhurt.

Budget Surplus Could Loosen 'Tight Money'

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $1.2 billion surplus of the federal budget, which President Eisenhower forecast for the next fiscal year, portends important long-range changes in the "tight money" situation swirling around Wall Street and Main Street.

Officials of financial agencies said today a surplus of that size probably would have serious effects. Bringing about a drop in the interest rate now at the highest level in a generation—or making it possible for more Americans to obtain the loans they want.

Thus the budget secret which Eisenhower Thursday slipped into his State of the Union Message to Congress holds important implications for all borrowers and lenders, and for the economy as a whole.

But that would be in the future. Meantime his call for a continuing battle against inflation indicates no immediate easing of the credit situation.

Eisenhower estimated record peacetime spending of $79,000,000 in the 1960 fiscal year, which begins July 1. However, the said revenues will exceed that figure by $4,200,000,000 to produce the biggest budget surplus in 13 years.

What's more, the President said the current fiscal year will show a 200-million-dollar surplus despite revenue losses caused by the steel strike.

In looking to two balanced budgets in a row, Eisenhower told Congress to use the surpluses to reduce the national debt—not to cut taxes.

Once debt reduction becomes a normal practice, he continued, "We can profitably make improvements in our tax structure and thereby truly reduce the heavy burdens of taxation."

The surplus would depend not only on high revenues but also on willingness in Congress to forego either tax cuts or heavy new spending programs.

Some Democrats and a few Republicans expressed doubt that the $4,200,000,000 surplus can be achieved. If it does become a reality, however, here's how it will affect the credit situation.

In the current calendar year, the government would be able to reduce the debt by a modest amount. This would compare with an eight-billion-dollar addition to the debt in 1959.

If there were no other factors at work, this lessening of demand for loans would result in lower interest rates.

However, Eisenhower's new budget is based on the assumption of unprecedented prosperity in 1960. And prosperity means that businessmen and individuals probably will be borrowing more money—to build factories, buy houses and finance new autos.

The increase in private demand for loans thus might offset the reduction in the government's demand and tend to keep interest rates at the present levels or even higher ones.

But with a balanced federal budget, the Federal Reserve Board might be inclined to relax some of its current restrictions on the supply of credit.

Asks Ruling on Rail Express Truck Run

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Commerce Commission said yesterday it would hand down a decision "shortly" on a request by the Railway Express Agency Inc. to provide truck service between Little Rock and Brinkley, Paragould, Piggott and Reeler.

The commission ended hearings on the request yesterday, and took the case under advisement.

Railway Express also wants to serve England, Clarendon, Stuttgart and Hoxie on its routes between Little Rock and the other four towns.

The agency said Cotton Belt Lines had discontinued its passenger trains between Pine Bluff and St. Louis, which used to provide Railway Express service to the towns.

Three bus lines are objecting to the proposal. They claim they provide adequate service. Railway Express contended the buses could not provide door-to-door service.

Nothing Like a Dame, a Real Live One

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—As the song goes, "there is nothing like a dame"—at least not so far as Dame Judith Anderson is concerned.

Actress Anderson was bestowed the honor this week by Queen Elizabeth when she became a dame commander of the Order of the British Empire in the Queen's new year's honors list.

The title places the austere-looking performer on equal footing with such knights as Sir Laurence Olivier, Sir Alec Guinness and other dames including Edith Sitwell, Rebecca West and Sybil Thawite.

The first such title to be conferred on a permanent member of the Hollywood colony might have far-reaching consequences.

Most unlighted actresses of the peroxide and Bronx accent are considered the word "dame" slightly tinged with disrespect, somewhat beneath the term "actress" and a cut above Frank Sinatra's favorite appellation for the weaker sex, "broad."

Despite this formidable situation Miss Anderson will carry on, being a British subject (Australian by birth and still a citizen of that country) by prefacing her name with her newly-gained title—Dame Judith Anderson.

Hopes For Presentation
"It is the greatest honor my Queen and country could give me," she said soberly.

"Of course, I will use the title, wouldn't you?"

I hastened to assure her that I would not, it being of the wrong gender.

"Well, what I mean is, I didn't think it is in the least undemocratic," she pointed out. "I could not be hamper nor more proud."

Dame Judith never has been presented to the Queen, but hopes such an event will take place at her investiture within the next few months. She added, however, that she had been presented to the Queen Mother on three different occasions.

Miss... er, ah... Dame Judith lives on a 27-acre ranch in Carpinteria, Calif., near Santa Barbara. She raises lemons and avocados on the ranch.

Grateful To America
Though she has lived and worked in this country since 1913, Dame Judith, whose rank in British social precedence is below that of the wives of the Knights Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire but above that of wives of Knight Commanders of Bath, has never become a citizen of the United States.

OO THE HOSTAGE

BY CHARLES HENRY

CHAPTER XXXV

The speedometer registered 90, headlights reached out toward the oncoming traffic lanes then stretching off into the distance, like so many shooting stars. The dark man guided the truck into a wide turn and the white lines, vivid against the glittering black pavement, stretched lazily to the right and then, after an interval, leaned back again in arrow straightness. Somewhere there was the sound of sirens, but so far away that Davey was certain they had nothing to do with him. The dark man's face was set and unrelenting.

Since the shooting the dark man seemed to have become quieter, more controlled. Nevertheless, Davey sensed in this new quietness an increased danger, an evil, menacing force for some greater gesture of destruction.

As the sound of the sirens died away without rousing closed, Davey noticed that the meter lights on the opposite lanes, which had been growing more and more scarce in the last few minutes, had finally stopped altogether. He looked up at the dark man, wondering what it meant. The dark man leaning suddenly forward, peered out through the window, slitted eyes at the road ahead.

Davey saw at once what had drawn his attention: around a they are proud of their country," he said. "I am proud of being a British subject and see no reason for divorcing myself from my native country."

"I do want to say how grateful I am to American for the warmth and kindness it has showed me. I love this country dearly."

"As of this moment, I feel there is nothing like a dame," she concluded, "and I am thrilled with the great honor."

wide, stretching curve not too far ahead was what appeared to be a glittering battery of lights, some red, some white.

Davey stared out of the cab at these white lights in pale bewilderment.

The dark man made some furious muttered comment which Davey didn't understand. The needle of the speedometer trembled and leaped upward. The motor screamed as if in defiance.

Aware now that something momentous and quite terrible lay up ahead at the end of the curve, Davey braced himself, pressing his hands deeply into the yielding leather surface of the seat. Looking up at the dark man, he thought for a moment he had forgotten all about him, but then the man turned, his lips parted in a tight, biting grin.

"This is it, kid," he said. "Here's where you get off."

Leaning forward, reaching out across Davey, he opened the door. Holding it open, still driving with one hand, he glanced around.

"Okay," he said, "you've been wanting out. Pile out!"

Instinctively rain stung Davey's cheek, and he looked around in horror and disbelief to see the night and the highway rushing past in a sickening blur just beneath him.

"Go on!" the dark man yelled. "Take a dive. You're getting off easy."

He let go of the door, but Davey shrank back out of reach. The door, propelled by the forward momentum of the truck, slammed shut behind him.

Flashed with rage, the man lunged for the door again. "I'm not fooling with you, kid!"

Looking up in wild desperation, Davey saw that the lights out on the highway were nearly upon them. As the door opened again, he shoved himself violently forward across the seat, slipped down under the man's outstretched arm and, onto the floor.

Scrambling back as fast as he could, he braced himself against the lower wall of the compartment extending from the door.

Above him the man cursed and straightened back to the wheel. His heavy-booted foot left the accelerator and kicked out. Davey ducked and the blow fell glancingly against the partition beside him. The foot returned quickly to the accelerator and pressed down on it again. At the same time, however, Davey saw the man's hand pull the empty gun from his pocket and throw it. Again he ducked, and the gun went wide of its mark, hit the partition behind him and dropped down beside him.

In a single quick movement, Davey placed his hands behind him against the wall and made them firm there. Something had suddenly stirred inside him, a feeling so strong and violent that for a moment it nearly blinded him. He only knew that the dark man was evil and that he would no longer be his helpless victim. Summoning all the strength left in his trembling, terrorized body, he braced himself against the wall, aiming his heels at the foot on the accelerator, he kicked out.

There was a roar of surprise and pain from the men as Davey's feet struck his ankle, knocking his foot off the accelerator. At the same time, in reflex, the other foot clamped down on the brake.

There was a sudden violent jarring, and Davey felt himself hurled against the bottom of the seat, saw the dark man rise up suddenly, loosely from the wheel as though jerked up by a powerful hand. There was a terrible screaming sound from the bowels of the truck, and then another sudden lurching that threw Davey back again against the lower wall of the compartment.

It seemed the whole world had begun to tilt. It moved slowly at first, slowly, and then, as a bright light dimmed in upon them, turned completely over.

As the big truck burst forth from the night like a hurtling, cometsome missile, Carol, sitting tensely forward, put a hand out before her in a swift gesture of terror. For a moment longer the truck bore down unswervingly on the blockade of cars and then, jerking suddenly to one side, it veered off crazily across the wet pavement toward the viaduct.

Screaming, it lurched again and careened, in a flat skid, to the edge of the embankment.

The networks set aside an hour for the broadcast, which would allow time for showing the President's arrival and departure and other incidentals to the message itself.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Facts as the basis of advertising investments

Once upon a time, all business men who advertised were, willing or unwilling, perforce speculators. They couldn't help it, because in those days they had no way of knowing what they would get for their money.

Today, advertising money can be invested on the basis of facts—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, nonprofit association of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers. The ABC has established standards for measuring the circulations of newspapers and periodicals, just as there are definite standards for the weights and measures of merchandise.

This newspaper is a member of ABC. Our circulation is audited by experienced circulation auditors. The facts thus obtained are issued in ABC reports which show how much circulation we have, how it was obtained, where it is distributed, and other information that tells business men what they get for their advertising money when they invest in these columns.

Ask to see a copy of our ABC report.

Hope Star

Through the reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, this newspaper, along with other publisher members of ABC, voluntarily and regularly give the buyers of advertising space within actual information that is available for any other advertising media at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle Black

The wedding of Miss Wanda Youngblood and Pvt. John Doyle Black was solemnized at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 22 at the Walnut Street Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Youngblood of Hope and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Black of Guernsey. S. R. Tipton, pastor, read the double ring ceremony. A program of pre-nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Jack Spates. Pink gladiolus and fern decorated the church for the exchange of vows.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white satin fashioned with a sheer illusion yoke and wide sweetheart neckline trimmed with Irish lace. The long fitted sleeves were trimmed with the same lace and the fitted basque bodice was accented in back with self-covered buttons. The skirt was designed with a gradual flare and extended into a full train. Her fingerling veil of illusion fell in full graceful tiers from a caplet of shirred illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, a top white Bible and wore a three strand necklace of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Wanda Faye Black, sister of the groom was maid-of-honor. She wore a pastel green formal and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Barbara Jean Tullis was bridesmaid. She wore a sky blue formal and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Flower girl was little Judy Tipton. Candle lighters were Miss Peggy Rosenbaum, cousin of the groom and Miss Brenda Delaney. Jimmy Peyton of Guernsey attended the groom as best man. Dean Black, cousin of the groom and Eddie Tipton served as ushers.

Mrs. Youngblood, mother of the bride, chose a two piece dress of beige lace. Mrs. Black, mother of the groom, wore a two piece dress of navy blue. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

The brides' parents entertained guests with a reception in their home immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with white lace over pink. Pink balls formed a tree as decoration for the centerpiece. The four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom was embossed with pink roses and silver balls.

Cake and punch was served by Misses Susie Gray and Teresa Tullis, Mrs. J. G. Keper and Mrs. Kathleen Delaney, with Mrs. S. R. Tipton in charge of the bride's book.

For travel, the bride wore a two piece suit of blue silk with black accessories and the white carnations from her bridal bouquet.

The couple left for a brief trip to northern Arkansas.

Dollar an Hour Minimum Wage Is Aim

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A state labor official said today that efforts will be made to get a minimum wage of $1 an hour for both men and women in Arkansas through an appeal to the voters.

George Ellison of Fort Smith, director of the state AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, said petitions for getting an inflated referendum are ready for circulation.

At present, there is no state law setting a bottom wage for men but for women it is $1 a day for unskilled workers and $1.25 a day for skilled workers.

Ellison said, "We have been working on this since the last Legislature."

Several attempts have been made to fix a minimum wage in Arkansas through legislative action. All have failed.

The labor official said a copy of the proposed referendum—to be voted on in this November's general election—was sent to Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett for approval of the ballot title.

Ellison said the referendum would call for the raise on a graduated scale. The basic wage would be 80 cents an hour the first year, 90 cents the second year and $1 an hour thereafter.

Secretary of State C. G. Hall said the deadline for filing referendums for the November election is July 7. Hall said petitions for such an act would require 22,950 signatures, or eight per cent of those voting in the last gubernatorial election.

Ellison said he expected opposition to the proposal. Asked from what source this opposition would come, he replied:

"From hotel and restaurant owners and the Associated Industries of Arkansas, which has killed the legislative bill, and the Chamber of Commerce to some extent."

Apparently he referred to the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce.

Domestic and farm workers would not be included in the provisions of the referendum, labor leaders said. It would cover businesses with three or more employees.

Overtime provisions would start at 48 hours the first year, 44 the second year and 40 thereafter. Overtime would be paid on a basis of time and a half.

Ellison said the idea of beginning on a graduated scale was due to the fact "we realize the South is in an industrial development program and we didn't want to do anything to hurt it."

He said the proposal would allow three years for experimenting and "we could always get something about it if it is wrong, but we don't think it is wrong."

3 Firms Purchase Oil Refineries

SMACKOVER, Ark. (AP) — Three firms have announced the purchase of two oil refineries of Henry H. Cross Co. of Arkansas.

The refineries are in Smackover and Colmar, Ill. The buyers were listed as Harry P. Dunn Co., Charles J. Wood and Associates, Inc., and the National Wax Co.

Purchase price was not disclosed.

N. Hampshire Ballot Lists John and Dick

By JOSEPH D. KAMIN
CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — The names of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (R-N.Y.) were injected into New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary today.

Enthusiastic supporters of Kennedy entered him in the popularly poll section of the March 5 ballot, which will provide the first clue to voter sentiment in this presidential election year. Kennedy also filed a slate of delegate candidates pledged to vote for him at the Democratic National Convention.

At the same time, several Nixon backers filed as candidates for seats at the Republican nominating convention. Their names will be listed in the GOP delegate contest as "favorable to Nixon."

Nixon forces plan to enter his name in the preference poll Saturday, the vice president's 47th birthday.

In another major development that could mean trouble for Nixon, several pro-Rockefeller Republicans leaped into the GOP delegate battle by filing for convention seats as "favorable" to the New York governor.

They said Republicans ought to have a chance to choose between Nixon and Rockefeller despite the fact that Rockefeller says he will not fight the vice president for the GOP presidential nomination.

Democratic National Committeeman Bernard L. Boutin of Lancaster delivered the official Kennedy nominating petitions to the secretary of state's office minutes after the opening of the primary filing period.

"This is the first step in a campaign that will make Jack Kennedy the next president of the United States," Boutin declared as Kennedy backers cheered and applauded.

Veteran political writers were agreed on this much: If Kennedy doesn't sweep the New Hampshire primary, it will be one of the biggest political surprises in the state's history.

The Massachusetts Democrat has no opponents in sight for that part of the two-pronged ballot which gives the voters a chance to register a direct choice for their favorite among the presidential contenders.

Neither Nixon nor Kennedy is expected to draw any opposition in the so-called "beauty contest." But they have been reported that Rockefeller supporters, undaunted by his withdrawal, are planning to wage a Rockefeller write-in campaign similar to the successful New Hampshire primary drive that saved Nixon from political oblivion four years ago.

Both the vice president and Kennedy face stiff fights in the separate convention delegate section of the primary.

Nixon will be opposed by delegates backing Rockefeller, who is powerless under the election laws to prevent anyone from running as favorable to him.

Kennedy's delegates are planning to oppose by candidates backing the only other avowed Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota; and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, who says he's not a candidate but is generally regarded as a likely contender.

Soviet Rockets Invading U. S. Test Ground

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets are invading America's favorite testing ground in the Central Pacific to try out a powerful new rocket built for launching heavy earth satellites and space flights to the planets.

The Soviets Thursday night slaked out a broad, deserted area 1,100 miles south-west of the Hawaiian Islands for test firings to begin between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15.

Foreign ships and aircraft were warned to steer clear of the target zone—roughly a rectangle 200 miles long and 160 miles wide—during the tests. There was no indication how long they could continue.

(Soviet missiles have been sighted coming into the North Pacific in recent months. Shifting the target south into the region of American interest was viewed in some Washington circles as a deliberate move to impress the West with the reliability and accuracy of the Soviet Union's new missile weapons.)

The Moscow announcement came less than six hours after President Eisenhower told Congress American intercontinental ballistic missiles have been hitting within a two-mile area from a launching point 3,000 miles away.

The Soviets did not specify the firing site for their new rocket. The announcement by the official Soviet news agency Tass said only that the test will be to develop "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

The Soviets indicated they were confident of pinpointing the rocket firings by announcing that Soviet ships will be sent into the target area to carry out measurements.

The range for the Soviet test firings could approximate that for U.S. Atlas missile.

The possible Soviet launching site is the Kamoharui Peninsula protruding between the Bering Sea and the Sea of the Okhotsk in the northern Pacific. This

DOROTHY DIX

That Look in His Eyes!

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Last summer I met a nice man. He is 24 and I, 17. I was the third girl he had taken out since his divorce in May. We went together about three months but my parents disapproved. He had been married once before and had a child by this marriage. They did not like the look in his eyes.

He appealed to me greatly because he did not smoke, drink or drive like a fool. I would have been 16 at the time his divorce was final. We planned marriage. He and my parents clashed, so he did not come by for two months.

Recently we tried to fix things up with them. My mother agrees we are in love. My stepfather still does not like this man. I asked my boy friend if what we used to do when we parked was right. He answered, "Yes, we are in love!"

Do you think he is bad? Would this be why my step-dad refuses to like him? My boy friend's wife never gave him what he needed: love, attention and a cozy home.

His feelings have changed quite a bit in these two months but in his eyes is still the love for me. He is jealous because all the men seem to be looking at me but I pay no attention to them. Please tell him, also my folks. — Disputed

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I have been going steady with Dick for over two weeks and still haven't received a ring. He keeps putting it off, never calls or comes to see me any more. He works every week night to a fairly late hour, but I still think he could call me once in awhile and let me know he's still alive.

When we're at the local soda shop he never pays any attention to me, but when we're out alone he says he likes me a lot. At the last dance, he was real sweet. We would be about 3,000 miles from the impact area designated by Moscow for the new tests.

U. S. government legal authorities said there are many precautions for use of the high seas for such experiments as far as they do not interfere unreasonably with activities of other nations and advance notice is given of the danger zones.

The nearest lands to the testing area are two American-owned islands, Palmyra about 250 miles to the east and Johnston Island 490 miles to the north.

The March 4 Islands group, the big U.S. nuclear weapon testing grounds, is about 1,600 miles to the west.

Two Hope Teams Drop a Pair of Games at Waldo

By TEDDY JONES, JR.

Waldo's senior boys and girls basketball teams defeated Hope in both games of a double-header played at Waldo last night.

The strong Bulldogs' third place finishers in the recent Hope Invitational Tournament, took the measure of the Bobcats by a score of 40 to 28.

Coach Gordon Beasley's Lady Cats went down by a 58 to 27 score.

The boys game was a low scoring affair with neither team able to hit consistently during the first half. The Bobcats jumped to a 10 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter and built the advantage to 16-13 at half time.

Neither scored in the last half, but the games high scorer, William Wilson, was runner-up with 13 points, 10 of which were scored in the first half. This duo with 27 points between them, proved to be too much for the Bobcats.

Williamson fouled out in the second half as did Larry Vaughn of Hope.

Hope scoring was well distributed with Vaughn high man with 8, followed by Walton with 7, Thurman 5, Calhoun 4, Smiley 3 and Robinson 1.

The girls were never close with Waldo taking a commanding lead, ending the first quarter 10-7, in favor of Waldo, 32 to 14 at half, 49-19 at the three quarter mark and 57 to 27 at the buzzer.

Owlett of Waldo was high scorer with 26 points followed by team-mates Singleton with 13 and Anderson 11.

Mitchell scored 14 for the Lady Cats followed by England with 12 and Messer 1 to complete the Hope scoring.

Hope Juniors Advance to Emmet Finals

By TEDDY JONES, JR.

The Hope Junior High School Bobcats advanced to the finals of the Emmet Invitational Tournament by downing host Emmet 36 to 14 last night.

Hope will meet Prescott for the championship on Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the Emmet gym. Emmet and Bodewy play for third place at 7 p.m.

The Hope lads had little trouble downing the smaller Emmet five and jumped to a fast 24-8 lead at halftime.

Coach Billy Mitchell played his starting five the first quarter and for the balance of the game gave his second string and subs a chance to build up playing time.

Dan Jones, Bobkitten forward was high scorer with 18 points. Other Kittens breaking into the scoring column were Earl Ray Murphy with 6, Foster with 4 and David Porterfield, Larry Thrash, Tony Purdie and Roy Wray with 2 each.

Ed Dougan was high for Emmet with 9, followed by Daniel and Paulkner with two each and Trexler with one.

Short Duck Season Ends in State Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The abbreviated Arkansas duck hunting season ends today with the number of kills far below that of previous years.

Gus Albright of Little Rock, publisher for the State Game and Fish Commission, blamed a 30-day cut in the season for the decrease in kills. But a poor hatch in duck breeding grounds contributed to the overall picture, Albright said.

The season began Nov. 30. Another thing that probably reduced the number of kills was a change in hunting time. Last year the hunting day began 30 minutes before sunrise. This year it began at sunrise.

The poor hatch made young ducks, which normally make up most of the kill, scarce.

"We were hunting mostly old ducks," Albright said, "and of course they are wiser, harder to fool."

Recent bad weather hampered aerial surveys and no figures were available on duck population.

Collegiate Stars Clash Saturday in Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Collegiate stars from throughout the country will clash in the 11th annual Senior Bowl game Saturday in what the weatherman says will be ideal football weather.

The forecast is for clear skies with the temperature probably in the 50s for the televised meeting of 25-man squads representing the North and the South.

The South is a 3 1/2-point favorite to win its seventh game in the senior bowl series, in which the players become pros. Members of the winning team will receive $600 each, the losers $500 each.

Quarterback Charley Britt of Georgia will direct the South defense and also serve as co-captain together with Ken Kirk of Mississippi, the middle linebacker on defense.

The North players elected two linemen as captains. They are center Bill Lapham of Iowa on offense and middle guard Rod Breckelove of Maryland on defense.

Jack Lee of Cincinnati will be the North quarterback, spelled by Olen Treadway of Iowa.

Weeb Ewbank of the world champion Baltimore Colts is the South coach. Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants directs the North squad.

The game will be played under pro rules, including unlimited substitution and one point conversions.

NCAA Meet Hits Climax in New York

By JIM KENSIL Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The 54th annual NCAA convention reached its climax today amid speculation that Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma may retire from coaching football.

Friends and colleagues of Wilkinson feel that the indefinite probation leveled this week on Oklahoma by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has disillusioned Wilkinson to the extent that he will quit football, despite his tremendous 121-13-3 record as head coach of the Sooners.

Wilkinson also is athletic director at Oklahoma which he has led to three national championships and 12 consecutive Big Eight Conference titles.

The former Minnesota star, currently in Hawaii to coach in the Hula Bowl, finished the season with a 7-3 record, his worst of 13 seasons at the Norman, Okla. school.

Comments from friends, Big Eight colleagues, coaches and newspapermen who are close to Bud, could be summed up generally:

"He saw this (the probation) coming, and it will break his heart. Bud's record is cleaner than that of 30 per cent of the coaches in the country. He loved to win, but he played by all the rules, both on the field and off. And the worst blow of all is that another coach blew the whistle on him."

No one dared to identify the "other coach," and the NCAA never discloses the sources of information which lead to its investigations.

The NCAA has continually emphasized that Wilkinson and all other school officials connected with Oklahoma athletics have cooperated fully.

The Oklahoma case continued to overshadow the normal sessions of the convention, as the group's business session was held today. Up for consideration was a new two-year football television contract plan.

The plan, part of the TV committee's overall recommendations, would for the first time empower the TV committee to deal with the television network for two years rather than one. The idea is to give sponsors advertising continuity. It was expected to pass easily on the convention floor.

A MATTER FOR PARLIAMENT—People who live in East Anglia, a section of England, are concerned about the coypu (pronounced koi-pu), a large gentle water rodent which originally came from South America. About 40 coypu farms were in the country in the 30s. Its reddish-brown fur is known commercially as nutria. Competition and World War II ended the business, and the coypus were turned loose. They have flourished in local waterways and farmers complain that the animals are eating their sugar beets. Additionally, a local boy was knocked off his bicycle when a coypu leaped at him from behind a hedge. Questions have been raised in Parliament but too little is known about the coypu to do anything about the problem.

Robertson Has Bad Night But Makes 27

By MURRAY ROSE Associated Press Sports Writer

Even when he has a bad night in scoring—that is if you think 27 is bad—Oscar Robertson is a tough man to beat.

The versatile All-American collected only 27 points—13.7 under his record scoring average this season—but showed his class as a "feeder" in sparking unbeat Cincinnati to a 76-60 Missouri Valley Conference victory over the Shockers at Wichita Thursday night.

Robertson made only nine points in the first half but set up his teammates with just as devastating effect for a 47-29 lead. Wichita kept whittling Cincy's margin in the second half but the Big O, guarded closely by 6-10 Gene Wiley and 6-4 Ron Heller, popped in 8 points to preserve Cincinnati's unbeaten record.

Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1 team and one of the four unbeaten major quintets, now has an 11-0 record. The Bearcats lead the Missouri Valley with a 2-0 mark.

Robertson and Co. move to "Ass" Saturday for a clash with the Hurricanes who proved surprisingly tough against Bradley's fourth-ranked club at Tulsa. The Braves found it difficult to beat Tulsa 71-58.

Most of Thursday night's major action was concentrated in the potent Missouri Valley Conference. In the other MVC contests, 12th-ranked St. Louis (9-3) outlasted Houston, 74-46, and Drake whipped North Texas State, 85-73, despite Jim Mudd's 35-point performance for the losers.

The Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes' bond on a charge of running a stop sign.

Jimmy D. White, C. F. Balsom, Dorsey Collins, Hugh L. Carrigan.

Don Sooter, Hazardous driving. Tried, fined $10; Notice of appeal; bond fixed at $10.

Billy Butler, Hazardous driving. Forfeited $10 cash bond.

Leon Brown, Gaming. Plea guilty; fined $10.

The following forfeited $10 cash bond on a charge of gaming:

L. C. Bronson, Jerry Nelson, Buster Stinson, John Moss, Lee Ernest Smith.

The following cases were dismissed on payment of cost:

Fred Womack, Carrying a Concealed weapon.

Jim Brown, Mary May, Gladys Fisher, Disturbing the Peace.

Mrs. Norvella Garrett, Failure to yield right of way. Tried, dismissed.

Sarah Smith, Assault with a deadly weapon. Dismissed.

STATE DOCKET

Herbert Hall, Failure to support minor children. Dismissed.

San Antonio Bag and Burlap Corp. Becker Oil Company, Trans-Lux Express, Texas Food Express, Clark Wholesale Lumber Co., Charles Wade, Denver Martin. Overweight. Forfeited $25 cash bond.

Denver Martin, Driving While Intoxicated. Plea guilty; fined $50.

Denver Martin, No drivers' license. Plea guilty; fined $5.

E. E. Davis, Driving on wrong side of highway. Forfeited $5 cash bond.

Horace E. Riddle, Speeding. Forfeited $25 cash bond.

Frederick Rivers, Passing on a yellow line. Forfeited $5 cash bond.

Calhoun Packing Co. No PSC Authority. Forfeited $100 cash bond.

David Deloney Driving while intoxicated. Forfeited $50 cash bond and ordered to serve 1 day in jail.

Eunice C. Ragland, Drunkenness. Plea guilty; fined $10.

CIVIL DOCKET

National Bella Hess, Inc. vs. R. C. Reed, Hope Brick Works. Garnishes. Action on account for $21.36. Judgment for Plaintiff by Default for $21.36. Garnishment dismissed.

When to Fish or Hunt

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half and two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

matter of FACT

Sixteenth century welfare in England consisted of giving begging permits to the needy. Each person discharged from the infamous Bedlam lunatic asylum was given a special badge which permitted him to beg on the highways and streets of England without fear of arrest by the authorities.

NEW NATION—Newsmag spots the nation of Kamerun (pop. 3,250,000) where revolutionary violence is marring festive celebration of the country's independence from France, which had held a trusteeship over the former German colony since the end of World War I. The violence centers about the Bamileke area and in Douala with bloody clashes between antigovernment rebels and police. Formerly called the French Cameroons, the name Kamerun is taken from the German.

Amendment 5 May Hamper Investigation

•ELLOXI, Miss. (AP)—The Fifth Amendment may be hampering a federal grand jury's investigation of the Mack Charles Parker lynch case.

The jurors interrupted their questioning of witnesses yesterday to ask U. S. District Judge Sidney Mize for further instructions on the proper application of the constitutional amendment that gives a witness the right to refuse to answer a question if he feels his reply might tend to incriminate him.

Mize told the jurors he could overrule the invocation of the Fifth Amendment "if it was apparent" that the answer would not tend to incriminate the witness.

He advised, however, the answers must be given before the grand jury during its regular deliberations and not during the courtroom hearings.

There was no report on which witness might be involved in the Fifth Amendment.

J. Osborne Moody, Pearl River County sheriff, whom Parker was abducted from the Poplarville Jail, was among the four witnesses in the courtroom when the jury asked for advice.

The three others were Poplarville Night Marshal Pete Carver, R. J. Wheat and John Ryeer. Moody appeared yesterday for the second time before the jurors, who were empaneled Monday.

When Ryeer reportedly were with Carver in a cafe across the street from the jail when Parker was taken out by a gang of masked men.

The 23-year-old Negro's body was later pulled from the Pearl River. He had been shot twice. Parker, a Lumberton truck driver, was accused of raping a white woman.

CHICKEN TROUBLES

CASSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Carl Kirk's trouble is tied indirectly to his neighbor's chickens.

The chickens run loose through a number of neighborhood yards, Kirk told sheriff's deputies, but he doesn't much mind that. It's the bullet holes in his garage from their neighbors' shooting at the wayward chickens.

BOY PLUS SNOW EQUALS — President Eisenhower's grandson David Eisenhower isn't one to waste an opportunity. He's just launched a winter missile (upper right) outside his home at Gettysburg, Pa., in final hours of midwinter vacation.

Lighter Side of Opening of Congress

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — During all the hoop-la whipped up by the reopening of Congress, I was over in one of the quietest corners on Capitol Hill, communing with ghosts.

Ghosts are about all that are left in Room 101 of the old Senate office building. They fill about in an eerie silence, haunting stacks of old subpenas, hovering over the Fifth Amendment and whispering to phantom attorneys.

Time was when Room 101 ranked as the most feverishly busy place in the halls of legislature. It resembled the floor of the New York Stock Exchange on the day the bottom dropped out of the market.

A score of investigators scurried back and forth, harboring secrets. Another score of clerks played a typewriter acrophony, banging drawers for perussion. Telephones rang incessantly. Some were answered. Lawyers with their clients elbowed each other for briefcase room.

As you may have guessed, Room 101, actually a suite of offices, is the headquarters of the Senate Rackets Committee, which is folding up this month after three years of labor-management sleuthing.

Chats With Attorney
I dropped by for a chat with Jerry Adlerman, who replaced Robert F. Kennedy as chief counsel after the committee wound up its public hearings last summer.

Many a time I have brushed gingerly past a sullen row of hard-eyed gangsters to reach Kennedy's inner sanctum. Today, Jimmy Hoffa could drive a truck through Room 101 without hitting a single hoodlum.

I found Adlerman behind Kennedy's old desk, a frail look on his face. Asked how things were going in the rackets business, he shrugged and crushed out a cigar.

"There's nothing left but the

was occasionally punctuated by the staccato rattle of an electric typewriter. In the outer offices, five months ago, you couldn't have heard a machine gun above the din.

Adlerman, a soft-spoken, matter-of-fact attorney who looks something like an unmusical Xavier Cugat, is himself a contrast to his youthful, hard-driving predecessor.

When the colorful Kennedy was around, the committee staff, which numbered about 150 in its heyday, was in perpetual motion and the panic button was pushed at least once an hour.

I asked Adlerman the whereabouts of some of the ex-staffers. Most of them have signed on with other congressional committees. Kennedy and a couple of others are working in the presidential campaign of his brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

As I left, it was so quiet you could have heard a subpoena drop. But the ghosts of a thousand witnesses filled the room.

MEMORY LAPSE

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — Mrs. Thomas Clannon called police when she heard unusual sounds in the basement.

Officers found two repairmen from the telephone company at work. Then Mrs. Clannon recalled leaving the front door key for them so they could enter the house.
